LOCAL MISCELLANY.

A number of Italians and their families occupy Ro. 400 Charry-st., and the house next door, known as the "Barracks." As these Italians, with their wives and families, were sunning themselves on the door-steps after dinner yesterday afternoon, two young Irishmen came along on the other side of the street. One was Dantel Driscoll, of No. 361 Cherry-st., and the other William, otherwise "Dooney" Harris, of No. 44 Scammel-st. They both belong to the noted "Border" gang which infests those parts. Being in a playful humor they began to throw stones at the Italians, who stood it as long as they could, and then went in doors. Driscoll and Harris broke all the windows of the "Barracks" and the adjoining houses, and then entered the passageway. At this time a shot was fired, which struck Maria Moreno in the left leg. Mary Paul, who was standing by, declares that it was Driscoll who fired the shot. Several more shots followed and Harris got a bullet in the legs. A neighbor rushed into the Thirteenth Precinct Police Station and told Captain Leary that there was a disturbance at the "Barracks," and the Captain with a sergeant and two detectives set off at a run for the place. When they arrived the shooting was over, but the talking was not. Driscoll and Harris were arrested. They said that the Italians had done the shooting, whereupon Carminio Moreno and Nicolo Husgia were also arrested. Harris's wound was dressed at Bellevue Hospital, after which he was locked up. Maria Moreno's wound was more serious, and she was left at the hospital. No revolver was found. The Italians say that Driscoll and Harris were both drunk. When quiet was restored two or three houses looked as if they had stood a seige. Nearly every window was broken, and stones and bricks lay pientifully in the passageways and rooms. Several of the immates had badly bruised and bloody faces. Carminio Moreno, who was accused by Driscoll and Harris of having done the shooting, is a brother of the woman who was wounded. IRISH ORGANIZATION IN THIS CITY.

The Executive Council of the Land League met with Dr. William B. Wallace, the New-York State delegate of the "Council of Seven" of the Irish National League, yesterday afternoon at Germania Hail, No. 193 Flurd-ave., to consider a plan of organization to be adopted by the local branches of the new League. John O. Bryne, at the request of Dr. Wallace, acted as construant. Ur. Wallace said that the National Executive Council had decided, in order to perfect each State organization, to call upon the different branches of the fail of the platform of principles and Juno 5 to mility the platform of principles adopted at Philadelphia. "Before rathification meetings are heid," said Dr. Wallace, "the council requires that each member of every branch should qualify by signing a new roll of membership and by paying 25 cents into the treasury. The amount thus paul, with the names and addresses of the officers of the Branch, will be forwarded to the Secretary of the new League. It is then proposed to invite each Branch, will be forwarded to the Secretary of the new League. It is then proposed to invite each Branch, will be forwarded to the Secretary of the new League. It is then proposed to invite each Branch, will be forwarded to the Secretary of the new League. It is then proposed to invite each Branch, will be forwarded to the Secretary of the new League. It is then proposed to the Executive Council of the City of New York. This plan will prevail throughout all the cities of the United States. The President of the Executive Council of the City will unite and constitute, together with myself, the State Executive Council."

Patrick Gleason suggested the Princicability of Politing immediately a convention for the purpose of binding together more closely the Irish societies of this city. It chought that the Land League with 25,000 members had accompished results which its most zeaious advocates had bever dreamed of, but this new League with ats 100,000 members would be able he thought to dictare to prominent Irishmen who have FOUND FLOATING WITH HER THROAT CUT.

The body of a woman supposed to have been murdered was found in the sand at the eastern end of Coney Island on Saturday afternoon. That part of the island extending from the Life-Saving Station, close by the Oriental Hotel, to Point Breeze is lonely and deserted at this time of the year, and the sole resident is Louis Smith, the watchman at the little hotel at Point Breeze. He was walking down the beach on Saturday afternoon when his attention was attracted to an object which the waves were bringing in shore. He recognized it as the bedy of a woman. It was nearly unde, and had been in the water a long time. A wound in the throat indicated that the throat had been out nearly from ear to ear. There were marks at the ankles which seemed to show that they had been bound together and perhaps weighted. After the waves had east the body on the sand, Smith drew it up beyond their reach, and then went to Sheepshead Bay and informed the nearest Justice of the Peace.

Justice McMahon took charge of the body and had it removed to Gravesend, in order to hold an inquest. The theory was generally entertained that the woman had been betrayed and then murdered, and to prevent identification the body had been stripped of clothing and weighted before being thrown overboard from some vessel. The woman's apparent age was about twenty-five years, and her hair was long and black. Other persons who saw the body said that the woman might have been accidentally drowned, and the wound in her throat have been caused by the paddle-wheel of a boat. The details of the finding of the body recall the mysterious case week before last in Brooklyn, in which several men on a ting attempted to put a woman ashore at Jewell's Wharf. The watchman heard them, and saw the tug move away, as the woman was piaced on the string-biece. She fell into the water, and the watchman called after the ting. It steamed back and after picking up the woman went on its way. Her hat and a braid of hair were left on the wharf. FOUND FLOATING WITH HER THROAT CUT. and after picking up the woman went on its way. TAMMANY DESIROUS OF HARMONY.

Tammany Hall's declaration that it desired peace and harmony and was tired of warfare, seems to have been made in good faith, and apparently this unusual condition of things among the Democratic factions in this city will be continued if the leaders of Tammany Hall can keep their unruly cohorts in hand. The resolutions adopted by the County Democracy, landing Governor Cleveland for his course and denouncing the three Tammany Senators for their action concerning the Governor's nominations at the close of the session, were intended as a gage of defiance to Tammany Hall. Several of the speakers at the meeting of the County Committee so declared when the resolutions were adopted. Tammany Hall, usually quick to accept a challenge, has made no sign that it will try conclusions with its Democratic rival. The Committee on Organization of Tammany Hall met last Friday evening, and nothing was said directly bearing on the matter. It was deemed advisable to keep quiet for a time at least, and see what new developments there might be. The General Committee will meet this week. Nothing will be said concerning this matter or the action of the Tammany Senators.

"What is the meaning of Tammany science in a prominent leaser of that organization was asked.

"Tammany Hall has had enough of useless fighting," was the response. "So long as it was a question of existence we were forced to fight, and we will do it again under like circumstances. But Tammany Hall is in good condition. We were admitted to the State Convention last fall, placing us on an equality, so far as regularity is concerned, with the County Democracy. There is a certain amount of prejudice against fammany still existing among the fiden element of the Democracy in the interior of the State. If there is a sharp light between the County Democracy and Tammany Hall this fall it will be forced on us by the former. And we cannot then be held responsible for what may happen in the loss of Senators and Assemblymen." TAMMANY DESIROUS OF HARMONY.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION. The regular weekly meeting of the Central Labor Union was held at Clarendon Hall yesterday afternoon, P. J. Gallagher, of the Laborers Union, presiding. William McCabe reported that the cigarpackers had decided to join the Central Labor Union and would send delegates next Sunday. He also reported a successful strike of the compositors employed on The World. J. J. Funerty, of the Brassworkers' Umon, asked the Central Labor Union to cease discussing the Brooklyn Bridge, dynamite and the Tenants' Defence Association, and take up the subject of a Saturday half holiday; and it was resolved to hold a mass-neeting in favor of shorter hours, to be held on June 4, at No. 263 Bowery. The Tenants' Defence Committee was discharged from further service, as it had been unable to arouse any interest in the subject. A delegate from the Cigar-Makers' Progressive Union reported that his union had given up the cigarette-makers' strike, but Nathan Cohen said that there were still 250 cigarette-makers on strike, and the strike was not lost.

THE ENGLISH YACHT SOFTWING.

The English yacht Softwing, owned by Edward Little, of Morris Hall, Norham-on-Tweed, and attached to the Royal Thames Yacht Club and the Portsmouth, Corinthian and Southampton Yacht Clubs, lies anchored in the lower bay, off Stapleton, S. I. The Softwing reached this port a few days ago, after a nine-months' cruise that extended over 11,000 miles. From England she had gone to the Mediterranean. After leaving Gibraliar she touched at Madeira, the Canary Islands, Cape de Verde Islands and the West Indies. Mr. Little's salling-master is William Arme, who is one of the best yachtsmen in the Thames Club. The Softwing, which is painted white, presents a strong contrast to the American yacht sanchored near-by. The Softwing does not use more than two-thirds as much canvas as an American yacht of equal length, 91 feet over all. The interior fittings of the Softwing are substantial and elegant. The cabin looks like a museum, the walls and ceilings being covered with trophies and curiosities from the countries visited. Among the articles is a crown that was cut from the head of a Zulu chief. This crown is made of rawhide, which is fastened into the wool of the chief, on his coronation, by a strong and imperishable glue, and is always worn as an emblem of office until death or dethronement. Mr. Little secured this crown from the head of a deceased chief, and he has refused £50 for it from the British Museum. THE ENGLISH YACHT SOFTWING.

BURGLARS DISTURBING A WAKE.

While some Italians were holding a "wake" on Saturday night at No. 73 Colgate-st., Jersey City, over the body of Lorenzo Vincenzo, burglars broke into the store down stairs. The noise attracted the attention of the Italians and arming themselves with knives they weat down stairs. Three burglars were in the store but two of them ran away. Miles Reilly, the third one, was captured and the Italians tied him hand and foot and threatened, he alleges, to cut his heart out. John Coyle and James Regan, Reilly's accomplices, went back to his assistance but were quickly overcome by the superior force of Italiaus and made prisoners. They were in danger of being roughly handled when colicemm White appeared and took charge of Coyle, directing the Italians to follow him with the other two prisoners. On the way to the police station Coyle broke away. The policeman fired a shot in the air to frighten him and another that took effect in the calf of Coyle's leg, bringing him to the sidewalk. County Prysician Converse extracted the ball. BURGLARS DISTURBING A WAKE.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE PROVINCIAL COUNCIL! It was announced in the Roman Catholic churche in this city yesterday that the Provincial Council of the bishops belonging to the Province of New-York has been postponed until further notice. It is thought by some that the troubles caused by the Irish agitation question, and the letter of Pope Leo XIII. connected therewith, have had something to do with the postponement.

A BURGLAR SHOT BY A POLICEMAN.

Policeman James O'Hearn, of the Seventeenth Precinct, gave chase yesterday morning to two burgiars whom he found trying to break into a shoc store at No. 98 Third-ave. comparative case and confort. I am now possing only occasionally small calculi, and they are not attended by the intense suffering which their passage has herefore occasioned.

"On one occasion I passed 35 calculi in 4s hours. The appearance of this calculius nuclei indicates unmistakably, I think, that they were all component particles of one large calculus, destroyed by the action of the water, by means of solution and disintegration.

"At my advanced heriod of life | I am 7; water, by means of solution and disintegration.

"At my advanced period of life (I am 77 years and 6 months of age and in my feeble general health a singleal operation mas not to be thought of, and the water seems to have accomplished all that such an operation, if successful, could have done."

pitshed all that such an operation, if successful, could have done."

RHEI MATIC GOUT.

Case of Dr. J. A. Hamby of Patrick C. H., Va., as stated by himself.

"For four years I was afflicted with rheumatic gout to an extent which incapacitated me entirely for the discharge of the duties of my profession, and was finally reduced to such a condition as to subject me for the most part to confinement to my bed. By the advice of one of my medical attendants, and emphatically as a dermier ressort, determined to make use of the Buffalo Lithia Water, spring So. 2. I am frank to say, without tail in its virtues, manig but little confidence in mineral waters. The use, however, of a few cases of the water was attended by beneficial results so remarkable that I was soon able to be out of bed and upon my feet, and my improvement has confined until 1 am now extively engaged in the practice of my profession, meeting, without any unusual inconvenience all the exposure and hardshy incident to the life of a physician in a mountain country. I cannot in candor do otherwise than ascende my recovery solely to this water, the value of which I regard as beyond estimation."

This Water is indoorsed by Jiv. 2. Martino sluss, Dr. Win. A, Hammond, and other medical men of world wide renown.
